

Creating The Dorchester County Seal and Comments About the Crab & Oyster Business in Dorchester County, By Andrew Tolley, 2 March 2016

Andrew was born in Dorchester County and has always lived and worked in Dorchester. In high school, Andrew thought he would become a commercial artist, but in college he turned to business and later took a strong interest in engineering. His early career as crab and oyster plant manager in Toddville gave him production expertise and in addition he has been certified in several other skills. In addition to seafood processing, his experiences have includes positions working with lumber and pilings, design and layout of equipment, design and fabrication of food processing automation, and management experience including Quality Control Manager. Currently, he has his own consulting business as well as a sales position for various production devices.

Andrew designed the Official County Seal for Dorchester County, still used today, and described the details and meaning of the Seal.

He also discussed his experiences and observations about the crab and oyster seafood business of Dorchester County.

