

County school Days, Friends and Memories, SDFM and Friends, 21 May 2011

The South Dorchester Folk Museum is organized this gathering to remember and celebrate those days when there was a school house in every country community - some one room and some two or three but all Country Schools. The event provided a forum for the community to share memories, stories, photos, and remember a time when school was where you walked with your sister or brother and the children next door. During the event, members of the audience, many of whom were past or current teachers or students in South Dorchester, related their memories and comments. Old photos and other artifacts were on display.
